Subject:	Add oEmbed wiki macro
Description
oEmbed is an open API which sites can use to support providing embeddable content. We may want to add a wiki macro to support embedding any oEmbed content. Further, there is an extension called Noembed which allows users to embed content from sites which don't export oEmbed content as oEmbed content (ok that was a little obtuse). TL;DR - this looks useful, we should check it out for the wiki system.

- Chris - sees how this could be useful, worried about potential security issues it brings up; feels the examples on oEmbed do not give enough of a picture about how this should work; might be too powerful for common users to have at the moment, need to research it more
