Subject:	Add license usage stats to a public page
Description
During a public discussion on the set of licenses currently available on ODE, we received the following comment. "This would be great. Are you going to publish stats on which licenses are the most popular? That would really help get a better sense of which licenses are working for (or at least appealing to) people." Since we are already storing license selections, it should be pretty easy to generate a real time (or nearly real time) report. I think it should be included on some sort of about page on the site which is publicly available. Maybe also include other cool stats: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- total number of projects</li><li>- date/time of last created project</li><li>- license stats</li><li>- number of projects broken down by category/tag once we have categories or tags</li><li>- total number of users</li><li>- date/time of last active user</li><li>- over all sales stats of kits/projects once we have a shopping cart system</li><li>- etc</li></ul>

Not terribly difficult, more useful as the site grows in popularity.
